

19th Annual Meeting of ISMPP

April 24-26, 2023

We are proud to be exhibiting at and attending the 19th Annual Meeting of ISMPP. We have a talented group of experts and thought leaders attending from across Envision who can talk to our our world-leading technology solutions, powerful scientific communications, and dedication to improving patient outcomes everywhere.

PATIENTS FIRST

The theme of this year’s meeting is Patients First and as passionate advocates of the patient voice, we are delighted to have strong representation from our Envision the Patient team.

The Envision team will be participating in plenary sessions, roundtables, and a workshop – as well as presenting 8 posters and a Keynote.

See the schedule below for details of the sessions it is involved in:

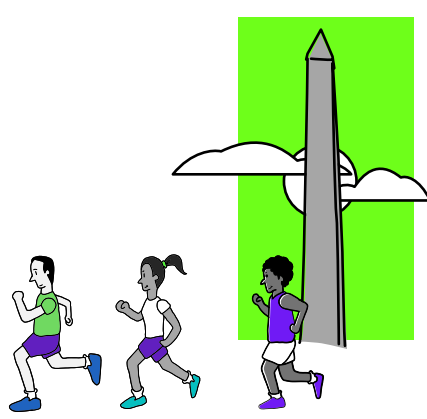

When	Time (EDT)	Session	EPG Authors/ Presenters (black text)
Monday, April 24	08:30-12:00	Workshop: Patient engagement in publications, focus on PLS	Patti Segarini
	13:40-14:10	Plenary: Patient premiers: And the award goes to ...	Amanda Boughey
	15:05-15:50	Roundtable: What makes a patient author?	Catherine Elliott, Jacqui Oliver, Dawn Lobban
		Poster: Impact of enforcement of FDA Amendments Act of 2007 on clinical trial reporting compliance	Dominic Fox, Tiha Long
		Poster: Do patient-experience publications have authors with patient experience?	Dawn Lobban, Amanda Boughey, Richard Stephens, Simon Stones, Karen Woolley
		Poster: Scalability of meta-research on patient-authored publications: You can do a lot with a bot	Bella Yang, Dawn Lobban, Karen Woolley
		Poster: Insights gained from working with patient authors on industry-sponsored publications: Case studies from Japan (Encore)	Kimiko Mitani, Nobutaka Yagi, Hiroko Ebina, Catherine Elliott
	18:00-19:00	Poster: Plain language summaries: Journal intent is just the first step ... (Encore)	Andy Shepherd, James R. Chester, Lauren Manning, Jacqui Oliver, Dawn Lobban
	Poster: Who are the authors of plain language summaries of publications?	Catherine Elliott, Jacqui Oliver, Lauren Manning, Rachel Jenkins, Joanne Walker, Dawn Lobban
	Poster: Diversity in patient authors: A randomized bibliographic analysis	Karen Woolley, Amanda Boughey, Trishna Bharadia, Richard Stephens, Beverley Yamamoto, Dawn Lobban
	Poster: Understanding the value of standalone plain language summaries of publications: Findings from an online survey of readers (Encore)	Jacqui Oliver, Dawn Lobban, Laura Dormer, Rachel Jenkins, Joanne Walker
Tuesday, April 25	09:05-09:35	Oral presentation: Do patient-experience publications have authors with patient experience?	Dawn Lobban
	11:00-12:00	Plenary: Guiding patient partnerships in publications	Dawn Lobban
	14:50-15:35	Roundtable: Advocating the value of visually engaging posters	Kristyn Morgan, Patti Segarini, Amanda Boughey
		Roundtable: Creating consistent communication through effective scientific communication platform socialization	Synnøve Smeets
	17:00-17:45	Poster tour: Who are the authors of plain language summaries of publications?	Catherine Elliott
	Poster tour: Understanding the value of standalone plain language summaries of publications: Findings from an online survey of readers (Encore)	Jacqui Oliver
Wednesday, April 26	08:55-09:30	Keynote: The 4th Industrial Revolution in Life Science: Reshaping Healthcare and Medical Communication with AI	Loubna Bouarfa (OKRA.ai, an Envision Pharma Group company)
	10:15-11:00	Poster tour: Diversity in patient authors: A randomized bibliographic analysis	Dawn Lobban

ISMPP AWARDS

This year sees the first-ever ISMPP Professional Excellence Awards which shine a light on ISMPP members that have demonstrated an extraordinary commitment to medical communications through innovative projects, programs, educational efforts, standard setting, or research.

We are delighted to announce that Envision’s Gabrielle Knafler, Dawn Lobban, Andy Shepherd, and Simon Stones have all been nominated for an award. The winners will be announced on Tuesday, April 25 at the awards reception from 17:45-19:00 EDT.

Making Strides at ISMPP

Envision will be holding a run/walk from the Grand Hyatt Hotel to the Washington Monument (1 mile each way) on Tuesday, April 25 at 06:30 EDT. The first 30 people to register can collect a “Making Strides at ISMPP” t-shirt and goody bag from the Envision booth #15.

Exhibition booth

Our exhibition booth will provide a great space for the team to connect with clients and showcase our EPG capabilities, both in person and through on-screen animations.

Social media

As always, EPG will be active on social media pre, peri, and post event. You can follow the meeting via the event hashtag #ISMPPAnnual2023.